Manjaro's website disclaimer.

This Website is about the APBT Bulldog.

Please know >>> by reading this disclaimer by Manjaro kennel – Gawie Manjaro and or all other or any published information on Manjaro's website - www.pitbullsa.co.za - you hereby acknowledge to accept this disclaimer –or exit now.

All APBT Bulldog related information does not only reflect Manjaro's views and suggestions about the "real" APBT Bulldog breed ... but also those from historical APBT Bulldog breeders or various world-renowned APBT Bulldog breeders and APBT Bulldog owners and also from those today with not necessary mine, yours or anyone else's viewpoints.

I assure you - relevant information on this website given about coming to know the APBT Bulldog >>> will be straight down the line – historically and factual, without whitewashing or sugar-coating the "real" APBT Bulldog breed of dog from yester year or what was handed to us in our lifetime.

The domesticated canine ... as dog was created by the folly of man with selective breeding for goals in having these animals.

The APBT Bulldog became my choice of dog just as it might have become your choice of dog today.

If you have a burning desire to know more about the "real" APBT Bulldog breed as sporting, game, working and family dogs - and with your passion for this breed, then this breed might also become your choice of dog breed.

Then, your interest should be about their, origins, history, traits and abilities, natural and genetic behaviours, functional working structure, breed standard conformation, correct feeding, nutrition, supplements & herbs, health, socializing and managing this the APBT Bulldog – then... read on, and if in any doubt about “this content” - do your own or further research.

All information given on this website is intended as a source and point of reference (starting point) only.

But google is if-you know how-to figure-out & search.

Give-you an idea what you're looking-at.

Then if need-be you'll-be more informed if-when you-do contact a-vet.

Therefore, it is not intended to replace a one-on-one relationship with a qualified pet /dog health carer, behaviorist, nutritionist, or other health professional and certainly not intended as medical advice – information thus shared mostly taken from legitimate internet research and historical dogmen's experience and my own as a APBT Bulldog breeder.

Please note >>> beware of asking advice from those who aren't trained or qualified to give it – best to ask your vet or a professional in the field you are interested in.

Most breeders and serious dog owners have “some” knowledge about dog diseases and medical intervention – this by experience – “some” that may work and save your dog's life or prolong life until you get to a Vet, especially in an emergency.

Then know this >>> if your dog is seriously ill - the best place for the dog is get to the vet ASAP.

They spend 7 years of their life studying to be able to help the dog in its time of need.

Often these “home remedies” can do more harm than good and know that some human medication can be fatal for dogs.

You are therefore hereby encouraged to make your own dog health care decisions based upon your research and or in partnership with a qualified pet dog health care professional.

Most of the information given on this website was submitted by professionals... taken from various APBT Bulldog internet sources – from references to research studies and from books about the “real” APBT Bulldog – also from the daily hands-on experience from APBT Bulldog breeders and dog owners in all walks of life around the globe... from their own experience and research about this breed - also from raw and other canine feeding dog groups and canine health and nutrition groups.

Either come to know about it and then do more research yourself or ignore.

But realize “some facts” about the APBT Bulldog are beyond reasoning.

Make sure there are no after effect warnings for any medicine, nutrition, or herbal treatment with (your) individual animal (APBT Bulldog), as well as the potential for interactions with conventional medication.

As registered breeder, I don't proclaim to be a veterinarian, animal nutritionist or dog behaviorist ... but I have been an active dog owner and breeder of terrier and bulldog' types since 1964 and became a keen student of dogs and more so about the APBT Bulldog since 1982 – then for “real” game working dogs.

This website is about me and my life experiences and studies about living with APBT Bulldogs.

I personally came to know these APBT Bulldogs by living with them conscious of their awesome abilities, traits, character, natural and genetic expected behaviour, temperament, diseases, and illnesses. About the use of species appropriate correct canine nutrition, or balanced commercial dry, wet, or homemade canine foods, supplements, herbs, nutraceuticals, and alternative medicines and supplements.

When choosing to use any of the items or protocols suggested in any articles on this website, it is and will be your responsibility to ensure safe use of the item/protocol – always best to first discuss what you think you know - with your vet.

Know that food, supplements, herbs, nutraceuticals, and alternative medicines all have drug interactions, most also have health issue contradictions, and some have serious side effects.

Use of these substances and protocols are your responsibility and choice.

Prior to use of any nutrition, substance, or protocol – it is advised first talk to your vet and or make sure you do your research - check for all cautions, contradictions, interactions, side effects.

But >>> also advisable in time of need to know that Google is also a starting point to come to know more about your concerns - if-you know how-to figure-out & search -will give-you an idea what you're looking-at – to be more informed if-when you-do contact a-vet.

I understand the comforting factor, that a similar situation happened to someone else's dog and their dog survived) but it's best to be seen.

If in doubt, please do not use the substance or protocol suggested on this website.

If the substance, or protocol is contradicted for your animal, do not use it unless you clear it by your vet.

If your animal has an underlying condition, you or the source info you look at - are not aware of “some” substances may conflict with that condition.

Also come to know that the real meaning of holistic.

Food items, herbs, nutraceuticals, and alternative medicines are not ‘holistic’ they are a substance and may or may not be ‘natural’.

It is important to keep in mind that the supplement industry is just as unethical as the BigPharma, the animal food and Pet Food Industry, and unfortunately many veterinarians – no one will ask you why you select certain over the counter medicine or a supplement – it displayed to entice you and the purpose is to sell.

Holistic is a way of approaching life, and within that - overall health, and wellbeing will result.

Please >>> do not expect a natural substance to miraculously remedy a health or behavioural situation.

In “most” cases a specific natural substance may be used to treat symptoms.

However >>> if the factors causing the underlying issue are not properly identified, analyzed, and addressed ... you do not have a remedy.

A remedy requires a comprehensive approach that identifies root cause seeks to remove items that trigger, cause, or otherwise contribute to issues, builds a complete detailed approach to immediate treatment, remedy, and maintenance of long-term health ... this = holistic.

Talk to your holistic Vet for more information.

By reading this article you accept this disclaimer.

Again >>> be it known that I, Gawie Manjaro, do not claim to be a veterinarian, and I certainly don't claim to be able to give veterinary advice.

Nor will I dispense any medications for you.

I am not attempting to practice veterinary medicine here.

Nor do I claim that the information I provide herein will guarantee that any dog will benefit in any way.

All I claim is that I will provide the best possible information I know of, however, you, the reader on this website, hereby agree that any information I provide is given by me solely as an alternative for you to consider, who either cannot afford veterinary care for their dog(s), or professional consultation, and/or who do not have access to veterinary facilities at the time of need – always best to first do your own research. By reading and then utilizing any information I provide ... you, the reader understand that I am not acting as a veterinarian and therefore you, the reader will be utilizing any information I provide at your own risk for your own APBT Bulldogs or other dogs or puppies.

Further, you, the reader herewith agrees to waive all rights, claims, causes of action, and/or any other allegations of injury, property damage and/or emotional distress against Gawie Manjaro, affiliated entities, associates, partners, etc.

Further, you, the reader/user of any provided information contained herein agree to indemnify, and hold harmless Gawie Manjaro, etc., against all such rights, claims, causes of action, and/or any other allegations of injury, property damage, and/or emotional distress.

You, the reader/utilizer of any provided information on this website, agree to use said information at your own risk to your own APBT Bulldogs or other dogs or puppies, with the full and total understanding that no guarantee or warrantee is being made here, nor that whatever information that is being provided will work.

By reading, and/or using the information provided by Gawie Manjaro, etc., you, the reader, and/or user of this provided information fully understand the above and again agree herewith to utilize this information at your own risk to whatever animals.

Then know this >>> moreover, the information contained on this website is not intended in any way to endorse or encourage any business, group, or individual to conduct any illegal activities with any animal.

The purpose of this website is to educate dog fanciers as to how to best raise and manage their dogs, and how to maximize any dog's physical condition, as well as how to treat any dog that becomes sick or wounded in an emergency to prolong life.

Other, said information has merely been created on this website for the benefit of historical history, dogs who become sick, and/or who suffer severe trauma, for whatever legal reason, as a means of assistance to and prolong life and health, this where a party does not have access to veterinary care.

Again, I expressly make no claim to be a veterinarian, and the information I provide is nothing but a "layman's guide," and relate to my life with my dogs, and the conditioning information I provide is being provided solely as a "layman's general guide" to prepare for any "legal" event, where optimal condition is required.

Finally, while illegal activities – as seen to be illegal today (then be historical facts I referred to) are in fact discussed and analyzed in some sections of this text, the overall thrust of the written material being herein offered is not intended to promote, encourage, or endorse any illegal activities or to violate the Animal Welfare Acts of 1976 or local Municipality By laws either ... these activities are merely being discussed on a philosophical and historical level for educational purposes – back in the day - to be able to come to know this history of yester year's dogmen and the real APBT Bulldog as working dog back in the day.

As such, any information or statements that may appear to endorse any illegal activity, should be viewed simply as my right to express the historical views and my view under freedom of speech and expression and should not be viewed as any attempt on my part at promoting, organizing, or encouraging any kind of wrongdoing whatsoever.

Thats it - Gawie Manjaro - MK.
